a sustainable future

Koleksiyon emphasizes transformation and re-evaluation over conventional methods of production, usage, and disposal. By preserving resources at every stage of the value chain, it aims to eliminate waste. The designs are crafted to be long-lasting, eco-friendly, and reusable. Eco-friendly manufacturing processes minimize waste and reduce the carbon footprint. Always prioritizing the sustainability of global resources, Koleksiyon utilizes recycled and/or recyclable materials.

Koleksiyon has begun meeting the energy needs of its Tekirdağ production facility with a 2.4 MW solar energy investment installed on the factory roof. Additionally, 70% of the company's vehicle fleet has been converted to electric vehicles.

designs that draw inspiration from nature

At Koleksiyon, we believe that the unique beauty of nature should be the fundamental source of inspiration for design. Our collections, where every piece reflects the rhythm, texture, and colors of nature, are a testament to this belief.

As you explore our outdoor furniture, you will notice how our designs harmonize with the outdoor environment, offering a seamless transition from the comfort of your home to the tranquility of nature.

the real value of craftsmanship

In Koleksiyon's outdoor furniture, craftsmanship lies at the heart of every product.
For us, craftsmanship is not just a production method but an art form.

From woodworking to metalworking, stitching techniques to intricate detailing, the value of handcrafting and the skill of our experts shine through at every step.

This process ensures that our furniture is not only functional but also carries aesthetic and emotional value.

the warm touch of woodworking

The meticulous and refined woodworking is one of the standout features of Koleksiyon's outdoor furniture. Each wooden piece comes to life in the hands of our experts.

Processing high-quality woods like Iroko requires careful attention and precision. This process preserves the natural beauty of the wood, and over time, the evolving surface texture makes each piece unique.

Woodworking not only adds aesthetic beauty to the furniture but also offers the warmth and comfort of natural materials.

the art of precise stitching

The stitching of the fabrics used in outdoor furniture is another testament to Koleksiyon's quality standards. Every stitch enhances both the comfort and durability of the furniture.

Expert seamstresses meticulously join each piece of fabric, ensuring the fabrics gain ideal durability for long-term use.

The stitches provide a delicate touch to the aesthetics of the furniture while also ensuring excellent performance, even in outdoor conditions.

the names the lead the design

At Koleksiyon, we believe that great design emerges from collaboration and the meeting of minds.

The name Koleksiyon has long been synonymous with innovative and well-designed furniture, accessories, and tableware for homes, offices, and outdoor spaces. This reputation is not only owed to our founders and in-house design team but also to our collaborations with some of the world's leading designers.

These partnerships have infused our collections with diverse perspectives, styles, and cultural influences, establishing Koleksiyon as a trailblazer in the global design world.

Faruk Malhan

Faruk Malhan, born in Izmir in 1947, completed his undergraduate education at the Faculty of Architecture, Middle East Technical University. He obtained his master's degree from the Department of Demography at Hacettepe University. He studied fundamental design under Professor Fritz Janeba, an original representative of the Bauhaus School. Malhan was a student of Mübeccel Kiray, a pioneer of modern sociology in Turkey, and was influenced by Professor İlhan Tekeli's lectures and articles, as well as Professor Nusret Hızır's philosophy. The courses he took with Professor Oya Köymen contributed to the development of Malhan's interdisciplinary awareness.

Atelier Xterier Design Team

The Atelier Xterier Design Team, composed of designers and interior architects, explores the latest trends, cutting-edge technologies, and innovative practices in outdoor furniture. They unveil the reflection of Koleksiyon's design language in outdoor living spaces.

Koray Malhan

Born in Ankara in 1972, Koray Malhan began his industrial design education at Mimar Sinan Fine Arts University and completed it in 1995 at Ravensbourne College of Design & Communication in London. He worked on design projects at Koleksiyon until 2000 and then served as the company's Brand and Product Director for two years. Since 2002, Malhan has been involved in the development of design projects, collaborations with international designers and studios, and brand communication, while continuing to serve as the Chairman of Koleksiyon's Board of Directors.

materials that last through the tough weather

Koleksiyon's outdoor furniture stands out not only for its design and craftsmanship but also for its resilience against challenging outdoor conditions.

At the core of this durability are meticulously selected materials such as aluminum, stainless steel, Iroko wood, mahogany wood, foam, and high-quality fabrics.

These materials, each with superior aesthetic and functional attributes, ensure that Koleksiyon's outdoor furniture remains both long-lasting and stylish.

aluminum

Aluminum is a lightweight yet strong, durable, and easily workable material. Resistant to various weather conditions, aluminum can be painted in different colors using polyester electrostatic powder coating, which makes it resistant to fading and scratching. Aluminum is impervious to chlorine, salt, sunscreens, and oils, and does not fade, stain, rot, or mold. It is easy to maintain and a recyclable material.

One of aluminum's greatest advantages is its lightness. This feature makes the furniture easily portable and stackable. Its natural resistance to corrosion offers excellent durability even in humid and salty environments.

The Iroko wood used in Koleksiyon's outdoor products, sourced from Africa, is highly resistant to temperature fluctuations, humidity, and weather conditions. Its natural oils make it water-resistant and inhibit bacterial growth, making it an ideal choice for outdoor environments. This wood is also favored for challenging applications like boat decking and exterior cladding.

Iroko is known for its easy maintenance and its variegated wood color, which transitions from yellow to dark brown as the wood matures over time. It is one of the most valued materials in Koleksiyon's range of outdoor furniture. This tropical hardwood stands out for its high density and natural oil content, which provide inherent resistance to water, moisture, and insects. Furniture made from Iroko wood retains its beauty and durability even when exposed to the elements over time.

Stainless steel is one of the most suitable metal alternatives for outdoor furniture. Its special composition prevents rusting and avoids water stains, unlike other types of steel. However, exposure to outdoor environments with low oxygen, poor air circulation, and high salinity can affect stainless steel.

The most significant feature of stainless steel is its high strength and exceptional corrosion resistance. This material provides excellent protection against harsh outdoor conditions such as rain, snow, and sunlight. To extend its lifespan and maintain its original appearance, regular cleaning every few weeks is recommended. This cleaning helps remove stains and pollutants that could damage the surface.

Koleksiyon prefers this material in its outdoor furniture for both its technical properties and aesthetic appeal.

Olefin fabric is a sun-blocking, UV-resistant, and fade-resistant material that is 100% recyclable. It is an ideal choice for all outdoor applications due to its long lifespan. Serge Ferrari Mesh Fabric, produced through a French/Italian partnership, is a 100% synthetic material known for its exceptional resistance to rot and mold, and its flexible structure makes it nearly tear-resistant. Its UV resistance makes it highly durable against fading.

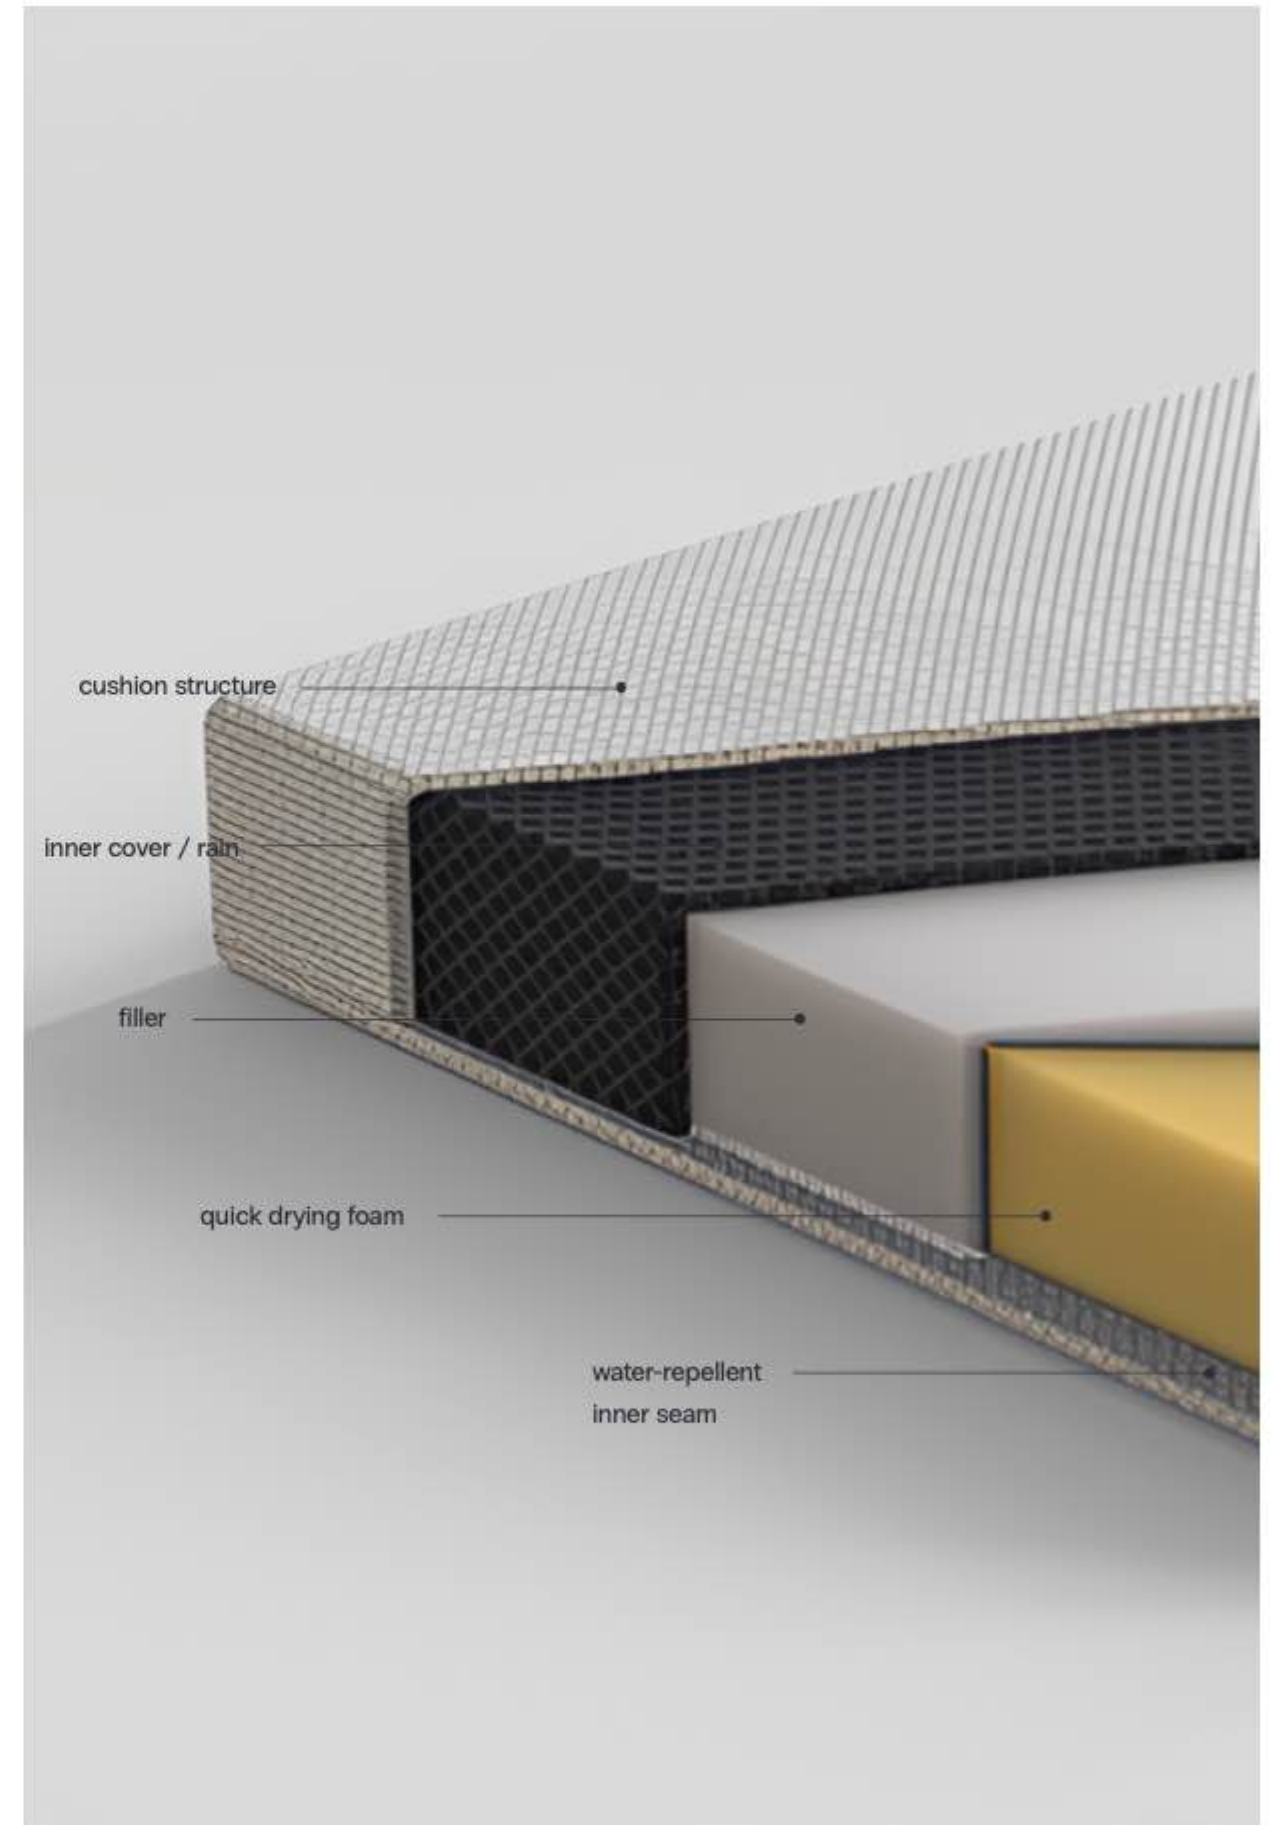

Acrylic fabric is engineered to resist mold and is among the easiest materials to clean with water. Koleksiyon's high-quality fabrics used in outdoor furniture offer advanced UV resistance, minimizing fading and color changes caused by sun exposure. With water-repellent properties, these fabrics are resistant to rain and moisture, ensuring that outdoor furniture stays looking new for an extended period.

Koleksiyon's quick-drying foam is combined with advanced materials and solutions. The polyester filling provides extra softness, ensuring that the cushion appears full and eliminates wrinkles in the outer cover. The knitted fabric lining, outer cover, outdoor fabric, and open weave mesh fabric allow water to drain away from the cushion.

The quick-drying foam is available in four firmness levels, offering various combinations to achieve optimal comfort. For added softness, polyester filling can be included. The Uregard antimicrobial technology used in the foam prevents mold growth. Koleksiyon's quick-drying foam is an advanced, high-performance foam specifically designed for outdoor cushions. It is produced using a sophisticated process known as Hydro-Blast Reticulation. Additionally, the stitching and zippers used in all outdoor furniture are designed to expel air and moisture effectively.

Teak is a densely veined, hard wood with a high natural oil content, making it durable and resistant to decay. These characteristics make teak an ideal material for both indoor and outdoor use.

When left to age in outdoor settings, teak will gradually turn to a silvery-gray color as the pigment layers on its surface begin to fade. It is recommended to clean it once or twice a year, using water-based maintenance products during the cleaning process.

Pressure-washing machines are not advised as they can erode the surfaces. As teak wood is naturally oily, it is not recommended to paint or varnish it. Paint and varnish materials won't adhere well to the surface, leading to peeling shortly. To preserve your furniture, it is advisable to use protective covers during winter months and store them in enclosed spaces such as a garage or storage room.
